

NECK RING WITH DETACHABLE BIB

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A neck pillow system comprises a neck pillow comprising a pillow body having a medial region and two arms that each have an end. The arms extend from the medial region to form a generally open well, and the neck pillow is configured to be placed around a baby's neck, with the medial region being positioned at the baby's back and the two ends positioned at the baby's front. A bib is removably coupled to the pillow body near each of the ends to permit the bib to hang vertically down over the baby's chest.
